Terri King

Terri King is a Construction Manager for WANRack Private Fiber Networks. Terri joined WANRack in October of 2021 but worked previously for Unite Private Networks for over seven years.

Terri started her career in telecommunications as an Inspector for Qwest in 1995. She worked for many different telecommunication companies over the years as an Inspector protecting existing facilities, making sure that any new builds were completed according to spec and to provide verified, as-builts and redline documentation. In addition to working for various telecommunication companies, Terri has also worked on the contractor side, giving her a full perspective from both sides.

Terri has worked in a variety of different roles over her 18-plus years in telecommunications: Inspection, Field Engineering, Redlining, Office Administration, Locating and both Project and Construction Management.

Before working in the Telecommunications Industry, Terri worked in Banking and other various Customer Service Positions. Construction was a complete left turn, but she fell in love with the work.

Terri started a family young and never went to college, so her experience comes from on-the-job training, but she always loves learning and growing.

Terri has 5 grown kids with families of their own. Terri considers herself privileged to have 21 grandchildren and 2 great-grandsons. Family is extremely important to her.
